Anzac Championship Woodchop 2015

Tree Awareness Anzac Championship will host the best woodchoppers in the world at the Egmont A&P Show on Saturday 21st and Sunday 22nd November 2015. Australia and New Zealand woodchoppers are the creme of the international competition, regularly taking out world titles over American and Canadian Axemen. The Australian Axemen’s Association have confirmed a team of nine top axemen and sawyers will attend the event.

The big class of the show will be the Tree Awareness 300mm Standing Championship testing the top 16 standing cutters in a fast and furious class with the competitors dealing to their logs in thirty seconds or less. Adam Low the big man from Hokitika will be back. He was a crowd favourite in 2013 taking away much of the prizemoney.

The 300mm Underhand Championship on Sunday is the other featured class. Stratford’s Jack Jordan who recently won the 375 Underhand World Title at the Sydney Royal show will be competing at Hawera.

The big Sawing events will include both the Single and Double Saw, a test of skill, strength, speed and precision. These two classes will attract top competitors including David McDonald (Waiuku), who will be tipped for win in the Single Saw, considered the toughest in woodchopping, and is a real test of endurance. The team of Warren Riddle (Feilding) and Faavae Sefo (Masterton) will be hot favourites in the Double Saw.

The favourite for competitors and the crowd will be International Team Test, this competition will be a three test series, one each day at Hawera, with the last challenge at Stratford A&P Show the following weekend. Rivalry will be fierce as always in any sporting event including Australia and New Zealand. NZ are the recent champions with big wins at the last two Sydney Royal Easter Shows.

DR (Jack) Gray Mural Madness Competition

The large block walls of the Enda Wills Hall (home of the Leisure Treasure & Pleasure section) provides a fantastic canvas for popular large format artwork medium of Murals. The Egmont A&P Association have for the second year secured Geoff Noble of Tahuna studios in Nelson to facilitate a three day workshop for youth aged 13-20 years to decorate the Hall walls. Geoff has been painting solidly for 15 years and has exhibited in various galleries around New Zealand. He is process driven and endeavours to create work that is beautiful and technically profound to a high standard. He enjoys using the figurative form and natural subjects to tell stories of environmental, social, and political narrative and has many years experience in large format mural type creations.

Entrants must submit their proposed art work on an A4 page at time of entry and 6/8 will be selected to be painted on the hall over the workshop facilitated by Geoff. All entrants are invited to participate in this workshop. On the final day the works will be judged with prize money awarded to the top three artworks. The spectacle of the building being painted during the two days of the show creates much interest among visitors and competitors.
